The Murray home was on this site on Sept 15?, 1776 when the American forces were being withdrawn from the lower part of New York to join forces at Harlem and King's Bridge. The British were in close pursuit of the column under General Putnam, which was not more than ten minutes ahead. General Howe and his staff stopped at the Murray home to inquire how long since General Putnam had passed. Ms. Murray assured them he was beyond successful pursuit and as the day was "insufferably hot" urged them to dismount and partake of refreshments. They yielded to her persuasion and this charming Quaker lady and her lovely daughter succeeded in delaying them formore than two hours, thus enabling the Americans to reach Harlem Heights in safety.

		1156g	IC, HG		1/1/1932				Dutch Reformed Church, Richmond Ave, Port Richmond, brick wall left of entrance	bronze tablet	"This building, erected in 1786 and rebuilt in 1844, is used for the worship of Almighty God, by the congregation of the Reformed Church of Staten Island. The congregation was organized in 1663 by the Reverend Samuel Brisius, who began preaching on Staten Island in 1660. The congregation was the first religious organization on Staten Island. At least two, possibly three buildings preceded the erection of the present edifice. A hexagonal building of logs erected in 1751 was destroyed by the British troops during the Revolution. A more substantial building followed in 1785. In 1844 the structure was rebuilt and enlarged, upon the site occupied by the present Church building. Following a destructive fire in 1929 the interior of the present building was completely remodeled. More than 270 years have gone by during which only 16 ministers have served the congregation as pastors."
